Computer Tech Sets Pace

Tax Encourages Moonshiners

In a well documented report just released, the Licensed Beverage Industries condemns the fast growing industry involving the illegal manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages.

On the inside front cover — the place of honor — tribute is paid to the Moonshine Fighters in general and Harold A. Serr, director of Internal Revenue Bureau's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division in particular.

Serr asserts bravely, "We have no illusions about the difficulty of our task. We know it will be a slow process, requiring money and manpower. But be assured we shall do everything in our power to kill the moonshine industry."

We're not so sure Serr and his tax collectors are making much headway — nor do we particularly care if they do.

"Discriminatingly high taxes on booze has encouraged bootlegging and moonshining. As in the days of prohibition when illicit alcoholic beverages became the most trafficked commodity, the currently rising alcoholic beverage tax rate is encouraging more and more people to enter the moonshine ranks."

Additionally, exorbitant taxes are never popular. Law breakers develop a certain rationale about high taxes — probably with its beginnings at Boston during a historic tea party.

LBI's manual, which it calls "The Incredible Moonshine Menace", lists on the cover some of the menaces of moonshining. LBI calls it "destroyer of health and life, breeder of crime and corruption, and colossal tax swindle."

On inside pages it claims the tax boys are subduing the public menace however.

How bad is it? Law enforcement agents seized a total of 17,774 illicit stills in 1966. Moonshiners produced more than 55 million gallons in 1966. Tax losses exceeded $744 million.

That figures $13.35 a gallon. On some grades of liquor that figures more than 50% of the total cost. Then add five percent sales tax — yep, sales tax on the federal tax, too — and you've got an additional $1.30-or-more tax obligation.

Another portion of the study is a prescription for helping to curb the "malignancy of moonshining." These include supporting new legislation on sales of legal spirits (possibly 24 hours a day); more citizens cooperation with lawmen (perhaps giving him the telephone number of your favorite bootlegger?); convince courts to give swifter justice, and heavier penalties commensurate with the crime (the crime of fighting oppressive taxes?); educating the public about the health peril of moonshine by erasing the mistaken concept of the moonshiner as a harmless cartoon character and revealing him as a criminal (maybe a cartoon with a mustache?), and finally, encouraging more clinical research on the irreparable physical damage that can result from drinking moonshine (that legal stuff don't do the ol' noodle much good either!).

It is on the final page of the book that LBI comes to grips with the problem. More realistic taxes, says LBI, including reduction in excises to a level that would eliminate the "enormous $13.50 subsidy that serves as an incentive for moonshiners."

They could have said that on page one and saved a big printing bill.

Non-Workers May Strike!

Storm signals are up in welfare recipients' camps. Too many of them sat in front of their color television sets during the 1966 election listening to candidates promise, among other things, higher unemployment pay and fatter welfare checks. But so far, they haven't gotten raises.

According to the U. S. Press Association, there is now a movement under way to organize "welfare clients" into a union to take care of this deficiency. The union would see that they'd get bigger checks and unspecified fringe benefits.

Those promoting such a union point out, according to U.S. Press, that reliefers represent a highly potent political force and that they intend to use it to get everything that is coming to them.

Where "welfare clients" have banded together, their front men have been able to get more people on welfare rolls and obtain higher handouts for all the "clients."

Government officials are dismayed at how this has boosted relief costs and say that a powerful welfare union could mean a welfare state in short order, with a back-breaking financial load on industrious citizens.

While it is alarming to realize that there are millions of parasites in this country who are greedily demanding more, there may be an antidote.

maintenance and repair of the gunfire control computer and also serves as an operator during battle stations. Jones entered the service in October 1962.

S.V. Community Welfare Reports

Mrs. Thelma Lewis, needy family chairman of the Spring Valley Community Welfare Inc., at the board meeting Feb. 2, reported five families, comprising of 21 persons, were assisted in Spring Valley during January.

There were 114 cans and packages of groceries contributed, along with 50 items of clothing.

Mrs. Agnes Watkins, shop chairman, said there will be a sale of all clothing for men, women and children at both shops, beginning Feb. 3 and lasting until further notice.

The articles will be sold for five cents each. Thrift Shop No. 1 is located at 9065 Memory lane and Shop No. 2 at 1027 Gillespie st., in South Spring Valley.

Shop hours are: Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

There was further discussion at the board meeting regarding the annual scholarship luncheon and fashion show. Mrs. Harriet Allen, ways and means chairman, said the date has been set at April 18 in the S.V. Community Council hall, 9062 Memory lane.

As an extra attraction, a "grab bag" booth will be installed, and persons may contribute for a nominal fee and receive a prize, worth the cost of the contribution, Mrs. Allen said.

Lip Reading Course Will Start Feb. 9

A lip reading course will be offered at the Monte Vista Lodge starting Fri., Feb. 9.

The course will be under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Barrett of the Grossmont Union High School Adult Education department. Classes will meet every Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. They will close out on May 30.

HAVE AGENCY — WILL TRAVEL — The Lemon Grove Travel Bureau followed its own suggestion last week and moved. It moved from 3560 Grove st. to 7905 Broadway. At an ply routes of targets of military significance.

In the past year "Sea Dragon" has destroyed more than 2,000 waterborne supply craft, and, for all purposes, stopped the flow of supplies through the Gulf of Tonkin. The now-daily attacks on enemy coastal defense gun-sites, roads, railroads and storage areas are thwarting enemy efforts to move supplies overland.

Accurate Gun Fire
The accuracy of naval gunfire stems mainly from its complex fire control system. The system is composed of a fire control radar which locates and tracks the targets, and a fire control computer that tells the guns where to fire.

With the position of the ship and the relative position of the target known, the fire control system can keep the guns locked on target, resulting in 100 per cent accuracy.

The first step in the control is to determine the exact location of the ship. This is done by taking visual bearings on geographic points or by taking ranges and bearings to these points on navigational radars. Once the ship's position is determined the range and bearing to the target is taken from a chart and plotted in relation to the ship.

Info Fed To Computer
This information is fed to the computer, which digests the facts and other variables like wind direction and velocity and air temperature, and decides in microseconds where the guns should point to hit the target.

The computer not only figures out the answer, but aims and elevates the guns and keeps them locked to the target as the ship moves.

Gun barrel wear and other variables can effect the fall of the round slightly but the first rounds usually fall within a few hundred feet of the target, and with the help of ground and air spotters, who relay initial corrections, the ship can "walk" its projectiles to the center of the target within minutes.

Seventh Fleet ships participating in "Sea Dragon" are playing a vital part in the Vietnam war. Every shell that is fired from a naval gun weakens the enemy and adds significantly to Allied ground efforts in South Vietnam.

State Moves To Control Citrus and Woolly Whitefly Infestation In S.V.-L.G.

The Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area is infested with citrus and woolly whitefly.

These pest insects seriously damage citrus, privet, gardenia and other plants. The California Department of Agriculture and the County Agricultural Commissioners are required by the Agricultural Code to treat to destroy these pests whenever found in California.

The program is fully supported by the County of San Diego and the citrus industry. A pest control contractor has been employed by the Department and will spray your property in the near future. There is no charge for this treatment.

To rid the area completely of these pests will require thorough spraying of host plants each year for several years. The spray is a highly refined spray oil mixed at the rate of one and two-thirds gallons of oil to 100 gallons of water. One pound of DDT per 100 gallons of spray mix is added.

If you have any special instructions for spraying crews regarding locked gates, dogs, open windows, etc., please call the Department of Agriculture in Imperial Beach, 423-2833.

To prevent the spread of these serious pests, the movement of all varieties of citrus, gardenia, privet, Texas umbrella, lilac, Mexican orange, and tree of heaven, is restricted by quarantine regulations.

Cuttings and prunings of these plants for disposal may be moved only if held for 10 days. Quarantine questions

Override Elections Win OKs

Separate override elections held in the Lemon Grove and the La Mesa-Spring Valley school districts were successful Tuesday.

In Lemon Grove, the vote was overwhelmingly favorable. 2,548 voted for a five year continuation of the $1.99 tax ceiling. 528 voted against it for a 5-1 approval.

In La Mesa-Spring Valley, the approval was 5,247 to 2,604 for a 2-1 approval.

The rate in the L.M.-S.V. District will be $1.97 maximum. Superintendents of each of the districts said approval indicated a wide acceptance of the district's educational program.

Had the issue failed in either district, the ceiling rate for operating schools would have been $1.35, the rate set by law.

Gulls Will Provide July 4th Fireworks

Grove residents will profit from a La Mesa project on the Fourth of July.

La Mesa civic and service clubs, together with the La Mesa Chamber of Commerce, are sponsoring a Night at the Gulls on March 3. Proceeds from the project will be used to put on a giant fireworks display.

The display will be fired from the west end of Eastridge, the hill between Lemon Grove and Helix high school.

Dope Cases Result In 15 Students Expelled from H.S.

Grossmont District schools trustees expelled 15 students from high school Monday night for violations involving marijuana and other drugs.

The action was made after a three hour closed door session of the trustees with parents and high school principals.

Five of the students were from Helix High School, four from Grossmont, two from El Cajon Valley and one each from El Capitan and Santana while three others were from the district continuation high school.

The majority of the students were rated as being above average or above in a scholastic ability and two as having poor school citizenship.

Of the 16 students accused of drug charges, only one — a girl from the continuation high school — was not recommended for expulsion by a district administrative review committee.

The site, it is believed, will give Lemon Grove residents a much better view than La Mesa residents.

The more funds raised by the Gulls project, the more fireworks the committee will fire off.

Local residents who like both fireworks and hockey are invited to obtain tickets for the Gulls game on March 3. Tickets will be at regular prices — $1.50 to $3 and the Gulls will rebate a portion to the fireworks fund.

Tickets may be obtained at this office at 7834 Lester st., Lemon Grove at the Chamber of Commerce office in La Mesa.

The fireworks display will be on July 4, of course.

The Congressman will be in Lemon Grove to give an address at the L.G. Men's Club at noon.

No appointment is necessary to see Congressman Van Deerlin at the newspaper office. Last year more than a dozen constituents met with him — some privately. The office is at 7834 Lester st.

Mrs. Helen Kytasty, a native of Ukraine, USSR, will teach the course. Mrs. Kytasty graduated from high school in Nemriv, USSR, and attended the University of Kharkov for three years, majoring in Russian language and literature.

Her college education interrupted by World War II, she received her BA degree in German and Russian from San Diego State College.

She also attended the University of California at Los Angeles and the University of Salzburg where she studied linguistics, German, and Russian before returning to San Diego State College in 1966 to receive her MA degree.

Mrs. Kytasty's education experience includes teaching Russian in a public school in Osnova, USSR. She has also taught Russian in the San Diego City and Grossmont Adult High Schools as well as German at Grossmont High School.

She taught both Russian and German at San Diego State College for seven years and German in the Evening Division at Grossmont College. From 1941 to 1945 Mrs. Kytasty served as an interpreter for the German government in Nemyriv, USSR and Breslau, Germany. She also worked in Munich, Germany in a Displaced Persons Camp and for a United States relief organization.

Freedom Services

Held Sunday

Freedom and seriousness of expression marked the celebration of Youth Sunday Communion service at the First Congregational Church.

The musical setting communion was the tabbed "Rejoice". Music in the folk-jazz idiom which was gathered from several sources and assembled by one arranger into a meaningful service.

The Youth Choir, augmented by college age people were accompanied by guitar, banjo and string bass music.

The overlying theme of music was that of taking part in a meal with Christ and a time to be thankful and rejoice.

Honors List Is Released

Lewis D. Kemble, son of Mr. Lewis G. Kemble, 7139 "B" London Ia, Lemon Grove and Raul Z. Furlong, 10340 San Vicente dr., Spring Valley have been named to the fall semester of the Grossmont College Deans' Honor List.

Lewis, a pre-law major and Furlong, a math student, both attained a perfect scholastic record with a 4.0 grade point average to lead 193 students qualifying for the honor list. A grade of 3.0 in 12 or more units is required to qualify for a place on the list signifying academic distinctions.

Erv F. Metzgar, vice president for instructional services, in commenting on the number of students qualifying for the honor list said, "I am gratified at the number of students on the list who are adults, many in their late thirties and forties."

Of the twelve students who earned a 4.0 grade point average, six were 25 years old and over. This indicates that age is not a barrier to pursuing an education to meet individual needs, that will be productive for the student and the community in which he lives."

Heart Volunteers Frost Cakes For Heart Fund

Members of the Lemon Grove Women's Club spent this past weekend frosting and decorating cakes for the Heart Fund in its Heart Coin Cakes Project.

The cakes will be displayed during February, Heart Month, in retail establishments throughout the Lemon Grove area and also in the San Diego County area.

They will be placed at cash registers to encourage customers to contribute their change coins to the Heart Fund.

Topping the cakes are pictures of Florence Chadwick, world's champion woman distance swimmer, stating, "Heart is My Cause."

Her first civic function, upon liability, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority chapters and the International Union of Operating Engineers.

Volunteer director of the project is H. A. Griffith, who retired in December as Standard Brands Foods manager. Griffith said the Dixieline Lumber Co. loans planks each year, for shelving at the donated Pepsi-Cola Plant warehouse return two months ago to her native San Diego was acceptance of the Heart Fund Honorary Campaign chairmanship for the 1968 Heart Fund Drive this month.

The coin cakes project is in its seventh year. In the past six years, they swelled the Heart Fund treasury by $30,700.

In 1961, George Shidler of National City and a few other bakers put the heart-shaped cakes on their own counters and collected nearly $400 for the Heart Fund.

The following year, they enlisted the sponsorship of the San Diego County Retail Bakers Association, which still bakes and donates the cakes each year.

The county-wide project now involves more than 30 volunteers of 30 Junior and Senior Woman's Clubs, Boyden School for Boys, Fire Fighters Auxiliaries.

Seal Fund To Start March 1

The 1968 Easter Seal fund appeal to finance services for San Diego county's handicapped children will begin March 1. The San Diego Society for Crippled Children sponsors of the annual campaign and it will continue through Easter Sunday, April 14.

Roy E. Erwin, society president, said local efforts for funds will be directed by the society's Easter Seal division and will be part of the nationwide campaign conducted simultaneously in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and Washington, D.C.

Locally, funds are used to provide services for crippled, handicapped and acutely ill patients at Childrens Hospital, according to Erwin.

National chairman of the 1968 Easter Seal campaign is singer Dinah Shore, who has volunteered her services on behalf of crippled children for the 1968 Easter Seal fund appeal.

Sodium carbonate is used in glass-making.

HEART VOLUNTEERS FROST CAKE: Mrs. Jimmie Hixon of the Lemon Grove Woman's Club get an assist from Florence Chadwick in cake decorating. Both women are Heart Fund volunteers. Miss Chadwick, world champion woman distance swimmer, is Honorary Campaign Chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund Campaign.

Juniors' Kangaroo Court Nets Dimes Project $200

A kangaroo court, a project of the Lemon Grove Juniors for raising funds for the March of Dimes, netted better than $200 Thursday, it was reported by Mrs. Robert Samson, health chairman of the club.

The event was designed to raise money for "Operation Healthy Baby", a March of Dimes project.

"We generated more money than we anticipated," said Mrs. J. L. Bowers, Juniors' president, "People in Lemon Grove were cooperative and generous," she said.

The kangaroo court was the end result of a kidnapping spree by attractive members of the group.

Business and professional men were kidnapped — by prior arrangement — and transported to the court at the Woman's Club clubhouse. There they were tried and found guilty by Justice Max Goodwin, local newspaper publisher.

Mrs. Samson performed additional duties as bailiff and gave March of Dimes receipts to more than 25 culprits.

Most unusual case was that of Sam Pernicano. He was apprehended enroute to the veterinarian office with his French poodle. The justice fined the dog $10 and suspended $2 on condition that Pernicano create no furor. Pernicano complained and was tapped for the additional two dollars. Dr. Si Brumbaugh felt the heavy hand of the judge — as did members of the L.G. Lions club including Dr. Don Johnson, Dr. R. Conlin, Forrest Baxter and Bob Russell.

Heaviest fined was Ted Fellers. The justice tapped him $10 after looking over the menu of the cafe he operates.

School people came over in a body. Dr. Evelyn Lauritzen, Byron Netzley, Sam Solleder, Paul Reynolds, Lou Poluzzi and Hal Brogan were all fined substantially.

Dr. Frank Gliotti arrived at court late and was in conference with the attractive members of the Juniors as court closed.

All agreed it was fun and the Junior plan to expand upon the idea next year.

Serving with Mrs. Samson were Mmes. J. Hixon, Dan Creek and Oliver Hughes.

Father's 'Life' To Be Extended

Five additional performances of "Life With Father" have been announced by the Old Globe Theatre. America's favorite family comedy, originally scheduled to close February 11, will be held over through Saturday, February 17.

Growing demand for tickets in the four hundred seat theatre in Balboa Park prompted the decision to continue the production. Performances are nightly except Monday.

An additional matinee on Saturday, February 17 has been scheduled for "Life With Father." Both previous matinees were sold out. The 2 p.m. performance is popular with family groups and older citizens unable to attend evening showings.

Final performances of Dylan Thomas' "Under Milk Wood" will be staged through February 11 at the Old Globe Arena in Falstaff Tavern. Eight actors create sixty-four characters living in a small Welsh coastal town.

The Dimmer View

No, not a taxpayers strike or any kind of a sitdown aimed at getting the freeloaders off the backs of the diminishing numbers of people who work for a living. The antidote is something that is already beginning to happen — a growing amount of mail that is being sent to Washington and to Sacramento telling the politicians that taxpayers have had enough.

It is a truism that he who pays the piper calls the tune, and the increasing cost of welfare is causing working people to remind their representatives that it is the working people who are paying the piper — not the indigents. Enough letters will remind the politicians of this and convince them that this fact will not be charged by a union of "welfare clients."

One of these days wage earners may demand something that will strike terror in those who toil not, neither do they spin. They may insist that "welfare clients" do more for their money than go to the bank and cash their checks. Wage earners may some day insist that these people perform some sweat-producing toil, like raking trash from the beach areas, picking up paper from streets and roads, washing windows of public buildings, and performing other useful chores.

Here's a frightening thought. In event of a "welfare clients" strike how would the strikers show the strike was one Stop not-working?

McCarthy for President Committee Officers Chosen

San Diego County's "McCarthy For President Committee" now has a full slate of officers, according to Harvey Furgatch, committee chairman.

Tax Override

Continued

This would have caused the administration to drop several programs which have proven popular. One program that would have been dropped is the school band classes.

In each district a large group of PTA members worked for the passage of the election.

Officers of the McCarthy For President Committee are: Furgatch, chairman; Rita Luftig, secretary; Bertha Crowell, treasurer; Larry Lawrence, finance chairman; Robert Sessions, publicity chairman; Lucy Goldman, petition party chairman; Henry Schwartz, speakers bureau chairman; Dr. Mel Crain, San Diego State College, liaison; and Eileen Holden, Peace & Freedom Party liaison. Furgatch is also a member of Senator McCarthy's statewide advisory committee.

Calif. Has Own Fleet Of Boats

Desert or sea coast, there's not a county in California that doesn't have its own private fleet.

This is what the research department of the California State Chamber of Commerce discovered recently when it took a total on the private pleasure boats in California.

Mountainous Alpine County even has 17 of them. On the other hand, the land of the freeways and automobiles, Los Angeles County, has 99,335 pleasure boats registered. Other aquatic-minded counties are: Sacramento (22,705), Orange (23,629), and Alameda (21,919).

There are a total of 388,629 pleasure boats registered in California of which 378,684 are privately owned, and the remainder are rentals or owned by manufacturers and dealers.

Experimental Student Program Starts At Helix High School

A federally supported experimental program for poorly motivated students is underway at Helix High School.

The program, in which three Helix teachers are participating, is designed to help students who do not work up to their ability.

The students in the program come from both applied arts and college preparatory classes and most have above average intelligence.

The problem is not that they do not know how to work satisfactorily, but simply that they do not want to.

The program, originally designed for use in poverty-stricken areas, is being financed by the federal government in hopes that it can help to alleviate the educational difficulties presented by culturally as well as economically deprived students.

The three participating teachers, Mrs. Mary Jones, Mr. Richard Langston, and Mr.

Mt. Miguel Speech Team Takes Second Place at Tourney

Mount Miguel's speech team placed second in the January 27th Invitational Speech Tournament at Cal Western College.

Two hundred students from 26 schools participated in the annual event which brought a first place to Hilltop, a third to Sweetwater, and a tie for fourth between Monte Vista and Oceanside.

Judy Parker won first place in dramatic interpretations; Pat Jackson, second in boys' impromptu, and Debbie Baldwin, second in girls' impromptu. Mike Zeglarski, scored sixth in boys' extemp; Thor Norlander, fifth in boys' original oratory; and Nila Repard and Linda McGarvey, second and fifth respectively in girls' original oratory.

Miguel speech coach W. R. Sanders pointed out that "This was the best overall team effort this year." He went on to say that it is a greater victory for a team when it can enter only one event, rather than win through the efforts of three or four fine students, since this makes for team effort.

The color guard for the program will be made up of members of Mr. Jones' Bluebird Troop. Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Mates and Mrs. Sullivan's fourth grade classes.

PLANNERS — Leaders of the local drive to raise $175,000 for an expanded Heartland YMCA program met last week to plot and plan. Funds will be used to build an enclosed swimming pool, handball courts and dressing rooms at La Mesita Park facility. The building was donated by John Davis.

After the Seattle game, the Gulls play two against Portland and then three straight against Vancouver before returning home to face the Portland Buckaroos at the Sports Arena, February 17th.

Night Traffic Court Will Start March 6

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley residents will be able to go to night traffic court if the need occurs. Sessions will be held on Wednesdays at 6:15 p.m. in Dept. 1, at the Courthouse on E. Lexington, El Cajon.

Judges Alfred Lord, Donald W. Smith and Thomas G. Duffy will take turns at the task of presiding over the night hitches of traffic court sessions.

The night court is being established for the convenience of members of the public who work during the day.

For those who wish a trial of their case, night court will eliminate one day-time appearance and consequent loss of time for work.

Night court will become a regular session if day workers show sufficient interest and the administrative costs do not become excessive.

One judge said that if too many housewives show up and not enough people who work during the day, the idea will be dropped.

There will be no trials and no jury cases will be heard. The judges pointed out that the night court will be for the taking pleas of guilty or not guilty in traffic cases.

Gross income in 1967 increased by $3.9 million over the prior year—from $60.2 million to $64.1 million—but the gain was more than offset by an increase in interest expense on savings accounts.

Helix H. S. Frosh. Learn Speed Reading

Many Freshman English students at Helix are doubling or tripling their reading speeds upon completion of a special speed reading course.

The program, now in its eighth year at Helix, is a regular part of most ninth grade English classes. Mr. John Schwindman and Mr. John Boone, speed reading instructors, take charge of English classes to teach the five-week course.

There are two basic steps in speed reading. The first in sight training which teaches the students' eyes to see faster.

The second step uses a tachistoscope, a machine which paces reading by flashing written lines on a screen.

The set speed forces students to read slightly faster than is comfortable and eventually a habit is developed. Improvement in speed and comprehension is checked periodically. Timed exercises measure words-per-minute and questions on the exercises measure the percentage of comprehension.

The average reading speed of students before the course is 250 to 300 word-per-minute. This is usually doubled or tripled by completion.

VD Increases In The San Diego County Area

The San Diego Department of Public Health reported that venereal disease continues to increase among San Diego County teenagers.

Dr. J. S. Askew, director of public health, said, "One of the reasons for the spread of VD among teenagers is that these young people are not aware of the seriousness of venereal disease."

If teenagers knew more about VD, they would more likely to avoid exposure to venereal disease. If they did contract a venereal disease, they would know the importance of seeking medical treatment."

A total of 1741 cases of gonorrhea were reported in county residents in 1967, up from 1415 in 1966. The total number of cases in 1967 was 422, up from 331 in 1966.

Dr. Askew said that reported cases of infectious syphilis remained about the same. There were 132 cases in 1967, compared with 136 in 1966. Persons 19 years of age and under had 21 of the cases in 1967, and 17 in 1966.

He pointed out that "all of these statistics are only the reported cases of venereal disease. There are many other cases that are not reported."

Last July and August, 58 teen-age patients at the Department of Public Health VD Clinic took a simple knowledge test about venereal disease. Dr. Askew said that the patients, who were 13 to 19-years old, missed an average of 32 percent of the questions.

56% Are Wrong
"Fifty-six percent mistakenly believed sores and rashes can always be found on people who have syphilis," he said. "Fifty-five percent did not realize that the symptoms of syphilis will disappear without medical treatment."

"Eighty-eight percent had the mistaken impression that a blood test for syphilis can also detect gonorrhea. Twenty-two percent were wrong in believing you can tell if a person has syphilis or gonorrhea by some distinctive outward appearance."

Dr. Askew went on to say that although only 58 teen-age patients at the VD Clinic were tested in San Diego, the results were about the same as the results of a similar test involving 1800 teen-agers in Los Angeles.

He pointed out that teen-age misconceptions delay treatment and lead to delay in medical treatment.

ment and result in serious damage to the health of young people who are infected. "Medical treatment is the only cure for VD," Dr. Askew said. "Without it, an infected person remains infected and continues to spread disease. Venereal diseases are serious. Syphilis can damage the brain, heart, liver and bones. It can cause crippling and death. Gonorrhea may cause sterility, arthritis, or even blindness."

New Technique In Photography To Be Used

Holography, the new technique of three-dimensional photography with a laser beam will be the subject of a University of California Extension lecture series beginning February 22 at the U. S. Navy Electronics Laboratory on Point Loma.

Geared to the non-specialist with training in engineering or science, "Holography and its Applications" is offered jointly by University Extension at Berkeley, Irvine, Los Angeles and San Diego.

Those scientists who have contributed most to its development will lecture on theoretical, practical and applied aspects of holography including its origin and history, sources and reconstruction in optical holography, color holography, holographic memories and acoustic holography.

Its major impact on science in the past five years and future applications in such diverse fields as medicine, oceanography, visual arts and industry will be discussed.

Dr. John L. Barnes, professor of engineering at UCLA, is coordinator of the program. The series will also be offered in Los Angeles, Fullerton and San Francisco beginning the same week.

For further information concerning the San Diego program write University of California Extension, P.O. Box 109, La Jolla, California 92037.

Obscenity Law Likely To Pass

Legislation designed to protect minors from pornography has been introduced in the State Senate on behalf of the Administration by Senator Robert J. Lagomarsino (R-Ventura). The measure, SB 124, was co-authored on the Assembly side of the Legislature by Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh.

Deddeh said the legislation was drafted by Los Angeles County District Attorney Evette J. Younger's office. Deddeh co-authored similar legislation last session for the Administration and the Attorney General. Last year's effort was based on a two-year study.

"Although the legislation (SB's 78 and 79) had widespread bipartisan support and passed the senate by a wide margin, they failed to get out of the Assembly Criminal Procedures Committee."

"I am confident," Deddeh said, "that we will be able to overcome the objections of the past without losing the intent or effectiveness of this new proposal."

Under 18 Is The Goal
The legislation is directed at persons who sell or make available "harmful matter" to persons under 18.

"Matter" as defined in the bill includes books, magazines, newspapers, drawings, and motion pictures.

"Harmful matter" is defined in the bill as matter which — taken as a whole — predominantly appeals to prurient, shameful or morbid interest of minors in nudity, sex or sexually deviate practices, is patently offensive to contemporary standards in the adult community as a whole with respect to its suitability for minors and is of slight redeeming social importance for minors.

Misdemeanors
The legislation would make it a misdemeanor for any individual, firm or corporation to knowingly sell, loan or distribute pornographic materials to juveniles under 18.

Every person who knowingly sells to a person under 18 an admission ticket or pass or knowingly admits a person under 18 for monetary consideration to premises where pornographic matter is exhibited is also guilty of a misdemeanor under provisions of the bill.

Additionally, every person who knowingly sends, delivers or gives away to a person under 18 an advertisement offering to sell, to lend for monetary consideration or to exhibit for monetary consideration any matter which is pornographic or is represented to be pornographic is guilty of a misdemeanor.

University Receives $5 Million Endowment New Technique

The University of Southern California's School of Medicine will receive an endowment of approximately $5 million because of the incredible business acumen of one woman who began life as a Chicago foundling.

May Roberts de Wright, 78, of Sierra Madre, died last Aug. 24 following a lengthy illness.

Her demise earned only a few lines in Southland newspapers.

Today, however, her estate executor, the Rev. Morton T. Kelsey, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal Church of Monrovia, revealed that Mrs. de Wright built a fortune through shrewd business dealings and left an estate valued at nearly $6 million, with USC's School of Medicine as the chief beneficiary.

The bequest is the largest in USC's 87-year history.

Rev. Kelsey, in whose church Mrs. de Wright was in the first group to be baptized, in 1896, also announced the establishment, under the terms of the de Wright will, of the Robert E. and May R. de Wright Foundation, which will administer the USC School of Medicine trust. Serving with Mr. Kelsey as trustees of the Foundation will be Mrs. de Wright's attorney, Mr. Gene E. Gregg of Arcadia; the chairman of USC's Board of Trustees, Mr. Justin Dart; the dean of USC's School of Medicine, Dr. Roger O. Egeberg, and USC's business manager, Mr. Elton D. Phillips. Mr. Kelsey had known Mrs. de Wright for 12 years; Mr. Gregg for 10.

In the will, much of which she wrote herself, Mrs. de Wright specified that income from the Foundation established by the USC medical school be directed into research against a massive killer, cancer, and a disabler of tens of millions, arthritis.

Mrs. de Wright's husband, a onetime lieutenant commander in the Navy and a longtime representative of Standard Oil of California in Mexico, was a cancer victim. The Sierra Madre woman's own life was plagued by arthritis with numerous and crippling complications.

Hopefully, USC's benefactor looked to a time "when basic research against these two diseases is no longer necessary," and directed the trustees of the Foundation to apply its income "for such research as will advance medical science in other lines and branches, if and when that time comes."

It was Mrs. de Wright's expressed hope that the trustees of the Foundation would not use the income of the trust for the construction of buildings. Term of the trust will be 25 years, after which time the body of the estate may be distributed directly to the School of Medicine "for such purposes having to do with basic research as may be deemed proper in line with my general intention and desire," she will reads.

The Master Charge credit card has generated sales exceeding $100 million during the first six months since its inception, according to Garrison A. Southard Jr., executive manager of California Bankcard Association.

Southard also reported that "the original first year sales estimate of $65 million has been conservatively adjusted to over $200 million. Our current sales volume is equivalent to that initially projected for 1972," he said.

California Bankcard Association was formed by 73 California banks to coordinate the operation of the Master Charge card, which was introduced in July 1967.

Since July, the Association's staff has grown from 30 people to 200, and nine additional banks have joined its ranks. Four of the nine new member banks are headquartered in Nevada, marking the first out-of-state expansion for Master Charge.

During the same period, Master Charge cardholders have increased from 2.5 million to 3 million, and participating merchants from 70,000 to 85,000.

According to Southard, the phenomenal growth of the Master Charge card would have been impossible without computer technology.

Sweeping Soc. Sec. Changes Are Made

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley residents will be given a 13% increase in Social Security monthly benefits starting March 3. This represents the largest increase since social security began 31 years ago.

Other immediate interest to persons over 65 are 3 changes in Medicare. First is the extension of the time for persons already over 65 to enroll for Part B (Medical) coverage.

This open enrollment began in October and will end on March 31. Anyone over 65 who failed to sign up for Part B coverage must enroll by March 31.

Coverage will begin July 1. Almost one fourth of those who failed to enroll when they were first eligible have now signed up.

March 31 Deadline
March 31 is also the deadline

Candidates Are Named

A list of candidates whose names will go on the slate for the upcoming election of officers of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce was announced Tuesday.

Twelve names will be listed on the ballot which will be mailed to each Chamber member next week, Joyce Foss, Chamber secretary said.

Those nominated include Frank Shughrue, Ed Loop, Frenchy Faucher, Charles Hesser, Al Woods, Noel Hanson, Dr. Sam Smith, Marie Lowe, Hal Lenox, Louise Warren, Leo Gersch, and Wally Knutson.

for claiming payment of medical expenses incurred before October, 1966. These, and later medical claims, can now be filed even though the bill has not been paid.

This is a change from the original Act which required receipted bills for reimbursement.

The third immediate change in Medicare is a premium increase from $3 to $4 beginning April 1. The increase is based on rising medical costs and on almost 2 years experience in administering the Medicare program.

Reduction In Work
A reduction in the amount of work required for young disabled workers will take place. Many injured Vietnam veterans were not eligible for disability.

They were not old enough to have worked for the 5 years previously required for disability benefits.

Depending on individual age, this 5 year requirement may now be as little as a year or half of work.

Disabled widows and widowers may also receive cash benefits as early as age 50. These benefits are based on the earnings of the deceased husband or wife.

They provide a source of income to the disabled survivor who would not otherwise be eligible for social security until age 60.

Old Laws
Before these amendments, a child was not able to receive social security benefits from his mother's account unless his mother was actually providing financial support.

A child is now considered dependent on his mother and can receive benefits on her account just as he can on his father's account. This change will affect almost 1,000 children in the San Diego area.

Recent Congressional interest in the case of Mrs. Judy Hodgkins of San Diego was responsible for another change in the law.

Widows and stepchildren can now receive survivor benefits when the husband dies before one year of marriage.

Sheriff O'Connor Praises Scouts

"A boy who has been a Scout for a couple of years seldom later gets into trouble with the law," says County Sheriff Joseph C. O'Connor.

"That percentage could be reduced even more if boys could be induced to remain in Scouting longer, at least through their college years. The Explorer program does not reach far enough."

O'Connor made his comments in connection with this month's Sustaining Membership Enrollment being conducted by the San Diego County Council, Boy Scouts of America. He is on the program's Steering Committee.

Sheriff O'Connor believes Scouting must find a means to utilize boys who frequently drop out of Scouting in their middle teens and late teens.

"When a boy is 16 or 17 or 18 his exposure to crime is increased greatly," O'Connor said in an interview. "If that boy were still in Scouting, he would pay much less attention to the possibilities of crime."

"I don't have the answer," O'Connor said, but there must be one and we should work toward finding it. The same is true of other youth programs, such as community-sponsored activities centered around athletics.

After a boy gets to be around 15 he has fewer opportunities to participate in the functions that were so important to him earlier.

What percentage of youth league baseball players make the team in high school? A small number. How many high school players make their college team? Very few. They get into other activities. Many of them get into crime."

O'Connor said automation someday would permit conducting a survey to show how many men and women now in trouble with the law had been in Scouting or other youth programs when young.

We would find that very few of the 750 men and women in the county jail today had ever been in a good program such as Scouting, O'Connor pointed out.

"We have found that a person's initial contact with narcotics, for instance, is when he is 13 or 14 years old — a time when a boy should be entering the Explorer Scout program. If he were an Explorer, chances are slim he ever would consider even testing a marijuana cigarette."

Scouting consumes a boy's interest and it prevents juvenile delinquency, which we know is caused in part by idle minds and idle hands. Scouting is relief for that energy and it picks a boy's mind and it helps that mind.

Automation is giving us more idle time, but there is plenty to do in Scouting."

He cited many of the varied fields a Scout may pursue. "The opportunities are wonderful," O'Connor said. "Only we should see to it that the older boys are attracted to Scouting longer."

The Sustaining Membership Enrollment seeks 15,000 subscribers. With good community support of this effort, Scouting in San Diego County can be expanded and improved to aid more boys and thereby aid us all.

O'Connor, who has been in law enforcement 30 years, was a First Class Scout at Renton, Washington. At the age when he might have been an Explorer he entered forestry, where he said his work was aided extensively by his Scout training.

O'Connor's three sons went through Scouting in El Cajon. Two became Explorers, one was a committeeman and one, Mike O'Connor, who now is a sheriff's deputy, was a Cubmaster.

Sgt. Schaas

Mrs. McGough — "It's like Heaven"

Ham Radios Link Families With Fighters in Vietnam

by Max Goodwin

There's a happy marriage between ham radio operators and telephone firms that has been blessed by the couples who are separated by the war in Vietnam.

One of those on whom the communications union has bestowed its blessing is a Lemon Grove serviceman's wife, who herself is a long distance telephone operator.

The woman, Mrs. Thomas Lee McGough, 20, of 7477 Central ave., Lemon Grove, has had two calls from her husband, a Navy hospital corpsman stationed aboard the USS Repose, a hospital ship off the Vietnamese coast.

"He called me for my birthday, and he called again five days later," Mrs. McGough said. "Each time we talked five minutes. It was like Heaven."

Call Goes Out

The calls go out for the attention of ham radio operators in specific sections of the country. The ham is told the telephone number of the caller's party and the ham places a collect call to her.

Both of Mrs. McGough's calls were routed through Berkeley ham.

One advantage of the odd-hours calls is that it is comparatively inexpensive. Each call via Berkeley cost $1.65 for five minutes. For comparison, a person-to-person call to Los Angeles is $1.30.

True Love

Mrs. McGough, who was Hollis Sayward before her marriage, met her husband at Navy Hospital in 1966 when she went there to have her tonsils out. One of the corpsmen who helped with the removal was Corpsman Thomas Lee McGough. "It was true love at the first snip of the tonsil," she said. Corpsman McGough was shipped overseas in November when Daniel Ritchie was three weeks old. He is serving aboard the Repose as an Eyes, Ears, Nose and Throat surgical technician (EM3). He will finish medical school and become a medical doctor when he is discharged in August.

His home is in Ohio. Hollis attended all grades of school in Lemon Grove and Helix high schools. She is the daughter of Mrs. William S. Sayward of 7456 Central ave., Lemon Grove.

Separate Boards

For Jr. Colleges

SACRAMENTO — Senator Clair W. Burgener (R-San Diego) has joined forces with Assemblyman Wadie Deddeh (D-Chula Vista), John Stull (R-San Diego), and Pete Wilson (R-San Diego), in introducing legislation providing for separate governing boards for junior colleges now sharing a common board with a union high school district.

The three junior college districts in San Diego County affected by this legislation are Grossmont, Southwestern, and Mira Costa. The official position taken by the Board of Trustees of these Junior college districts is in support of his legislation.

Burgener said this legislation is urgently needed because the time and energy required of individual board members due to separate board meetings, separate budgets, and separate records adds up to a demand of the individual school board members, which is more than a non-paid lay person can devote.

No matter how dedicated to the cause of public education the individual may be, there are not enough hours available in a month so that he can devote adequate time to school district matters above and beyond his regular vocation.

The nature of the problems faced by Governing Board members, Burgener said, are not the same at the junior college level that they are in connection with kindergarten through grade 12.

Curriculum, state governance, finance, practically every basic problem to be considered, is sufficiently different so that the board member is faced with the necessity of learning two systems.

He added that with coterminous boundaries there are many opportunities for conflicts of interests between junior college needs and the needs of the high school program. It is almost impossible for a Board member to impartially, dispassionately consider the merits of the two points of view.

Involvement in areas of statewide considerations of Governing Board problems by an individual Board member, Burgener concluded, would require him to attend and participate in different organizations.

This will become increasingly evident as the State Board of Governors for California Community Colleges takes over the state governance from the State Board of Education and the State Department of Education.

Year's First Flu

Case Is Recorded

The San Diego Department of Public Health reported the first laboratory confirmed case of influenza to occur in San Diego County this winter.

Dr. J. B. Askew, director of public health, said the case occurred in a 48-year-old Lakeside man who became ill on Jan. 6. Tests for influenza were performed in the Virus Laboratory of the Department of Public Health on blood samples taken from the man on Jan. 10 and Jan. 25.

The doctor said a memorandum was also received from the State Department of Public Health advising all local health officers that the first cases of type A influenza in California this season have been confirmed by serologic tests in the Viral and Rickettsial Disease Laboratory in Berkeley.

The cases occurred on several campuses among university students who became ill in January after making holiday visits to the east and mid-west where influenza is prevalent. There has been no evidence so far of extensive spread of influenza to other students.

According to the State Department of Public Health, many California areas have in recent weeks reported acute gastrointestinal illness associated with upper respiratory infections. Dr. Askew said this is the kind of ailment often referred to as "intestinal flu" but added that these illnesses are not caused by the influenza virus.

He went on to say that influenza vaccine is effective against influenza viruses of both type A and type B, but that the vaccine has no effect on other respiratory infections, such as colds or "intestinal flu."

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What is the significance of Spanish verbs that end in AMOS? It simply means that the subject of these verbs is the pronoun "we."

An example of this verb form is found in the word "hablamos" (we speak). Even though there is only one Spanish word, "hablamos," it must be translated into two English words, "we speak," because of the word ending in "amos."

Use of the Spanish pronoun "nosotros" (we) may be used for emphasis. One may say "nosotros hablamos" (we speak). In this case the emphasis is made on "nosotros" which stresses the pronoun "we."

Another "amos" ending verb is "trabajamos" (we work). It also is represented by one word in Spanish and two words in English. We know that the "amos" ending tells us that the subject is "we."

Verbs that end in "AN" present another interesting change. These verbs normally appear with the related pronoun. There are three pronouns that may appear with "an" ending verbs. They are "ellos" (they, masculine), "ellas" (they, feminine) and "ustedes" (you, plural).

Thus we may say "ellos hablan" (they speak) or "ustedes hablan" (you speak). In both cases the verb ends in "an" and the subject may be "ellos" (they), or "ustedes" (you).

Today's practice phrases end in "amos" or "an." You may practice them when you dial 276-2762 on your telephone. A recorded voice will say each word and phrase for you in less than two minutes.
